To the U-M Injury Prevention Center Community,

As we approach the end to 2020, the leadership and staff of the U-M Injury Prevention Center want to thank you for your work and for all that we’ve accomplished together, for participating and connecting with us in our events, and for furthering the science of injury prevention research.

We want to remind you to register for the U-M Injury Prevention Center 2021 Suicide Prevention Summit, The Science of Suicide Prevention: New Strategies for Understanding and Intervening, to be held on March 16th, 12-5 pm EST (virtual). This event promises to be a very informative day and a chance to connect with others in our field. Abstracts will be accepted through January 15.

If you are not already a member of our Center, please complete an application here. It is free, requires no time commitment, and provides many benefits. Please pass this invitation along to your colleagues and students.

Many of you have been working hard on the front lines throughout this time, and will need to continue in this capacity as the new year begins - thank you! Wishing you all good health, we hope that you will have a chance to find time to rest and rejuvenate during this break.

We look forward to continuing our work together in 2021 - stay safe and Happy Holidays!

Sincerely,

The Leadership and Staff of the University of Michigan Injury Prevention Center
